

Safety Course

Construction Safety & Health #200

Dates:

December 5 – 8, 2005

8:00 – 4:30

Location: MSFC

Building 4200, Room G13E

Do you oversee construction safety? The information in this course will help you make you construction activities safe and help you comply with OSHA regulations. After completing the course you will receive an OSHA certification card.

Who should take this course?

- Professional safety personnel
- Construction site inspectors
- Construction managers

Course topics:

- Introduction to OSHA Construction Standards
- Hand and power tools
- Health hazards and personal protective equipment
- Electrical safety
- Construction equipment
- Signs, signals, and barricades
- Steel erection
- Confined space entry
- Safety management programs
- New construction standards

Tim Evans, has spent 21 years in the Pulp & Paper Industry with experience in quality, training, safety, forecasting, advising, and planning. Certified in the following: Crane Training Instructor, Scaffold Instructor, Fall Protection Instructor, Forklift Operators Instructor, Department of Transportation in Hazardous Chemicals, Ergonomics Specialist, DACUM Facilitator, ISO 9000 Coordinator, Self Directed Team Development, and TQM Systems. Mr. Evans is Certified by OSHA to teach classes, and this year earned his CSHO certificate.